Programming Project 8

Database Program

Assignment objective:

Setup a database to handle the final project. Choose any SQL or NoSQL database. Take a screen shot of the work and submit.

What Worked?:

Once I got everything set up moving the data that I had hard coded into my programs was pretty easy. I created train travel objects which included start city, end city, travel time, and cost. I added all of these items to a list, and then iterated through the list adding each item to the corresponding column.

What did not work?:

The hardest part about this project was getting MySQL setup to work with everything on my machine. The first time I attempted to do the download I must have done something wrong because the Command line client would not execute when I clicked on the icon, and when I tried to access it via command prompt I got a message saying access denied. I spent several hours trying to get this to all come together, before uninstalling and re-installing MySQL which then worked.

Comments:

I had never used any sort of database before this assignment. While I was frustrated getting everything set up I feel like I learned a lot doing it. It is easy to see how being able to import data from a database or export data to a database will be a valuable skill and a huge time saver for me someday in the future.

Data sent to MySQL database through python

The screenshot shows a MySQL 5.6 Command Line Client window. The window title is "MySQL 5.6 Command Line Client". The main content area displays a table with 6 columns: Id, StartCity, EndCity, Time, Dollars, and Euros. The table contains 26 rows of data, representing various flight routes between German cities. The data is formatted with vertical bars as column separators. The window has a standard Windows-style title bar with minimize, maximize, and close buttons.
